PassAssured works with PTCB to Streamline National Certification Process for Students

ORANGE, TX – PassAssured, LLC, a veteran online pharmacy technician training program, is collaborating with the Pharmacy Technician Certification Board (PTCB) to offer a unique package of the two companies' products inside and outside of the classroom.

Individuals, pharmacies, chain stores, and schools have the flexibility to purchase PassAssured's Pharmacy Technician Training Program (PTTP®), the Pharmacy Technician Certification Exam (PTCE®), and other PTCB products to streamline training and national certification.

The introduction of this package allows schools to monitor their students' progress from the date of enrollment in the PTTP® to certification. Pharmacies and chain stores have the option to monitor the trainee's progress through PassAssured's Educator Control Panel.

For the first time in PassAssured's 17 year history, national certification packages are available to individuals for purchase.

"It will make it easier for the future pharmacy technician to proceed from the street to the national certification exam. Training pharmacy technicians is all we do, and we do it well," according to David Dubose, RPh, President and CEO of PassAssured.

PassAssured's staff has been training technicians since 1995, and online since 2001. It is the most established online pharmacy technician training program – utilized in classrooms across more than thirty-five states and by individuals nationwide and considered the gold bar standard by many educators. It is designed for high school seniors and beyond.

PTCB allows high school seniors to test within 60 days of graduation. Upon graduating, passing the PTCE, and meeting PTCB's certification requirements, the individual is considered a Certified Pharmacy Technician or CPhT.

PTCB certification is recognized in every state and Washington D.C. and a requirement of many. This new relationship is a deal that will change the landscape of training and certifying pharmacy technicians.

"It is my belief that the collaboration between PTCB and PassAssured will have a positive impact on reducing the shortage of pharmacy technicians nationwide," Dubose said.
